

THE GEORGE GUND

WAS ESTABLISHED IN 1952 AS A PRIVATE, NONPROFIT INSTITUTION WITH THE SOLE PURPOSE OF CONTRIBUTING TO HUMAN WELL-BEING AND THE PROGRESS OF SOCIETY.

OVER THE YEARS, PROGRAM OBJECTIVES AND EMPHASES HAVE BEEN MODIFIED TO MEET THE CHANGING OPPORTUNITIES AND PROBLEMS OF OUR SOCIETY, BUT THE FOUNDATION'S BASIC GOAL OF ADVANCING HUMAN WELFARE REMAINS CONSTANT.

PRESIDENT'S

The Foundation continues to have a commitment to the economic revitalization of the city of Cleveland and Northeast Ohio. A major new initiative by the Foundation, developed in collaboration with other funders, and the photographic essay in this annual report are reflective of that important concern.

The George Gund Foundation is pleased to be one of the leading proponents of the $30 million Fund for Our Economic Future. We believe that philanthropy can play an important catalytic role in reshaping the regional economy, and we are dedicated to supporting this effort. We see this as an obligation to the region and to the Foundation's other program interests. Improving the region's economic prospects is vital to the success of our ongoing grantmaking in the arts, education, the environment and human services. Those sectors, in turn, have much to contribute to the economic well-being of the community. By banding together, Northeast Ohio funders are communicating an important message: Creative, collaborative effort can move the region forward.

We are pleased that this initiative among foundations is occurring on a regional basis. The Foundation is deeply committed to the city of Cleveland, but it is clear that the city cannot go it alone. And Greater Cleveland has had great difficulty in crafting solutions that match the dimensions of its problems because those problems rarely confine themselves to one or a few jurisdictions. Northeast Ohio has numerous divisions, and prominent among them is the multiplicity of political subdivisions. Bridging those divisions demands regional cooperation and collaboration as does developing effective problem-solving approaches.

We can celebrate the development of regional efforts in many areas this year. The business community has reorganized to take a more regional approach. Leaders in higher education have enhanced their regional efforts. The arts have coalesced into a burgeoning, organized force in Cuyahoga County. We at the Foundation look forward to opportunities to include support for initiatives that demonstrate the importance of the city to regional economic development.

The photographic essay in this year's Foundation annual report is a noteworthy source of inspiration and hope. Each year the Foundation engages a photographer to depict some important aspect of our work. Andrea Modica's images this year illustrate the strength required to embrace change. All of the women pictured sought new careers in fields that have not traditionally been open to women. All sought and received assistance from Hard Hatted Women, a Foundation grantee. They offer lessons to the community and challenge us to think differently.

Geoffrey Gund President and Treasurer

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S LETTER

In an important sense, the real work of The George Gund Foundation is done less by our board and staff than it is by the nonprofit organizations to which we make grants. The Foundation cares deeply about advancing the arts, education, the environment, economic and community revitalization and human services. We are dedicated through these program areas to effect lasting improvement, especially in the ability of Cleveland and its region to compete effectively in a world of breathtakingly rapid change. The largest part of our work is making grants to organizations that face the often difficult day-to-day challenges of what George Gund called "improving the human condition." The organizations we invested in during 2003 are listed in this report.

Quite often we receive grateful acknowledgements from the organizations we fund. We appreciate those kind words, but, in fact, it is we who are grateful to them. Their work inspires us. They revitalize neighborhoods. They campaign for public arts funding. They provide college scholarships for disadvantaged students. They illuminate the destructive consequences of suburban sprawl. They ease the re-entry of released prisoners into our community. Powerful examples all, but they only brush the surface of our grantees' work. Their individual and collective impact is a testament to human compassion, ingenuity and commitment. Through nearly all of it runs a theme of stewardship of our community, a sense of responsibility that we share with them.

We take quite seriously the work of our grantees and our relationship with them. We also have an abiding desire to improve our own effectiveness. The combination of these sentiments led us during 2003 to engage the Center for Effective Philanthropy (CEP) to confidentially survey our grantees. We wanted to obtain their candid appraisal of the Foundation and how we conduct our business. Their responses, compiled by the CEP in a Grantee Perception Report, were both gratifying and instructive. We were glad to see grantee expressions of appreciation for the expertise of the Foundation's program officers and, especially, for the Foundation's leadership in various aspects of public policy engagement. We were equally pleased to receive their constructive criticism. In particular, they were critical of some of our communications and our civic affairs program area. We have taken their comments to heart.

In this report and on our overhauled web site, which should appear in mid-2004, you can see the effect of our grantees' insights. We have revised our program guidelines to express more coherently the relationship of all of our program areas to the sense of commitment that we feel to Cleveland and the surrounding area. The guidelines reflect the overlapping missions of nonprofits in the various program areas as well as our own increasingly interdisciplinary approach. In addition, we have eliminated the civic affairs program area. This field, as aptly noted by our grantees in the CEP survey, had become an unsatisfactory catch-all category. The discernment of our grantees, combined with the need to prioritize economic development, led the Foundation to conclude that civic affairs was no longer supportable as a stand-alone program area. We will continue to fund, on a limited basis, proposals in that field out of other program areas, but our emphasis will be ever more on the five stated program areas, with special attention to their interdisciplinary aspects, as stated in the guidelines beginning on page 48.

The grantee survey that we undertook in 2003 was a more formal expression of our long-standing interest in listening to the nonprofits that we fund. As our work and the work of those organizations evolve to meet changing needs, we intend to remain ever attuned to our grantees' views.

HUMAN SERVICES

2003

The Foundation's grantmaking reflected the strains produced by proposed state and federal cutbacks in programs serving society's most fragile members. Significant investment went into battling proposed reductions in public funding, aiding basic safety net services and promoting tax policy reforms that would provide more equitable distribution of resources. Supporting advocacy work as a means of pursuing systemic change remained central to our work. Interest in the impact of the justice system on family stability grew through grants addressing prisoner re-entry and juvenile justice reform. Human services grantmaking totaled $3,059,350.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

December 31, 2003 and 2002

NOTE 1: SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

NATURE OF OPERATIONS

The George Gund Foundation ("the Foundation") is a private foundation which makes grants to educational, community service and philanthropic organizations, basically in Greater Cleveland.

BASIS OF ACCOUNTING

The Foundation's financial statements are presented on the accrual basis of accounting. Accordingly, revenues are recorded when earned, and expenses are recognized when incurred. The Foundation has only unrestricted net assets.

USE OF ESTIMATES

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

CASH AND CASH EQUIVALENTS

Cash and cash equivalents consist of highly-liquid investments with maturity dates of three months or less which are readily convertible into cash.

INVESTMENTS

Marketable and U.S. securities are reported at their market value. Securities traded on a national securities exchange are valued at the last reported trading price on the last business day of the year. Realized gains or losses are determined by comparison of asset cost to net proceeds received. Unrealized gains or losses are determined by comparison of asset cost to market values at the end of the year. Presenting the fair value of program-related investments is impractical since the purpose of these investments is to provide low interest loans to nonprofit organizations to assist them in their specific projects.

CONDENSED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

FURNITURE EQUIPMENT AND LEASEHOLD IMPROVEMENTS

Furniture, equipment and leasehold improvements are stated at cost. Amortization and depreciation is recorded using both straightline and accelerated methods over the estimated useful lives of the assets. Depreciation expense amounted to $65,973 and $75,682 for the years ended December 31,2003 and 2002, respectively.

NOTE 2: LEASES

The Foundation occupies office space in the Landmark Office Towers under a lease that extends to January 31, 2010. Base annual rentals are $123,833 through February 1,2005 and $129,461 for the remaining term of the lease, with escalation charges from these base rentals. There are renewal options for two additional periods of five years each. Rental expense for the years ended December 31,2003 and 2002 amounted to $130,752 and $127,665, respectively.

The future minimum lease commitments under leases with terms in excess of one year are as follows:

2004	$ 123,833
2005	128,992
2006	129,461
2007	129,461
2008	129,461
Thereafter	140,250
	$ 781,458

NOTE 3: EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PLAN

The Foundation has an employee's tax-sheltered annuity plan for substantially all employees. Employer contributions are required at 9% of participants' compensation up to the Social Security wage base and 14.7% of the participants' compensation in excess of this wage base, with a limit of $200,000 of compensation. Contributions to the plan for the year ended December 31, 2003 and 2002 amounted to $91,936 and $88,404, respectively.

NOTE 4: CREDIT CONCENTRATION

Aside from their holdings in the Kellogg Co., the Foundation's portfolio of investments is highly diversified; however, at December 31, 2003 and 2002, 30% and 32%, respectively, of the total market value of securities and 56% and 61%, respectively, of dividend income in each year are attributable to ownership of Kellogg Co. stock. The Foundation has a concentration of risk in its cash position as of December 31, 2003 in that the Foundation has over $7,662,965 in one checking account that is insured by the F.D.I.C. up to a limit of $100,000.

NOTE 5: EXCISE TAXES

The Foundation is exempt from federal income taxes and is classified as a private foundation under Section 501 of the Internal Revenue code (IRC). It is subject to a 2% (1% if certain criteria are met) federal excise tax on net investment income, including realized gains, as defined by the IRC.

Deferred federal excise taxes are provided on the unrealized appreciation or depreciation of investments and interest and dividend income and certain expenses being reported for financial statement purposes in different periods than for tax purposes.

Accordingly, federal excise taxes of $92,982 and $399,008 have been provided for the years ended December 31, 2003 and 2002, respectively, in the income fund. Included in the above amounts are $3,514 and $3,282 reflecting the net change in deferred taxes for the years ending December 31, 2003 and 2002, respectively. The principal fund excise tax is the result of the deferred tax at a rate of 1% on the unrealized gains or losses on securities for the years 2003 and 2002.

NOTE 6: NET ASSETS

Net assets include the accounts of two board-designated funds (principal and income) both of which consist entirely of unrestricted net assets. The principal fund consists of investments in securities and receives the realized and unrealized gains or losses on those assets. The income fund receives interest and dividends on the principal fund investments which are used for grants and administrative expenses. At December 31, the statements of financial position included the following income fund accounts:

	2003	2002
Cash	$ 1,591,722	$ 2,219,904
Receivables	1,692,294	1,834,840
Other assets	16,309	14,921
Due from principal fund	(17,335)	33,938
Accounts payable	(446,267)	(157,149)
Grants payable	(5,585,800)	(6,951,500)
Deferred Federal excise tax	(7,104)	(10,618)
	$ (2,756,181)	$ (3,015,664)

The following is a summary of the changes in total net assets:

	2003	2002
Income fund		$ 1,720,359
Principal fund	51,544,991	(29,304,963)
Increase (decrease) in net assets	51,804,474	(27,584,604)
Net assets – beginning	390,658,616	418,243,220
Net assets – ending	$ 442,463,090	$ 390,658,616

The change in individual funds includes transfers by the Foundation of $11,813,670 in 2003 and $13,805,515 in 2002 from the principal fund to the income fund.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES. THE GEORGE GUND FOUNDATION

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial position of The George Gund Foundation as of December 31, 2003 and 2002, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Foundation's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of The George Gund Foundation at December 31, 2003 and 2002, and the results of its activities and its cash flows for the years then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

GRANT PROGRAM GUIDELINES

The George Gund Foundation's long-standing interests in the arts, economic development and community revitalization, education, the environment and human services are reflected in the guidelines below. Uniting them and coursing through the history of the Foundation is a deep commitment to place, to the Greater Cleveland community that is the home of the Foundation. The Foundation's philanthropic stewardship of this region derives from its roots, from our belief that Cleveland can continue to develop original solutions to urban problems and from our hope that collaborations across boundaries can create a crucible of innovation in all fields of endeavor. Moreover, the urban emphasis of our work stems from our belief that thriving cities are the nation's best hope for addressing our essential problems. This sense of stewardship increasingly causes the Foundation to acknowledge that many grant proposals do not fit neatly into one program area. Indeed, the work of many nonprofit organizations brings together aspects of several of our core concerns.

Recognition of these interrelationships draws the Foundation toward support of funding opportunities that cross program boundaries and that integrate elements of these various disciplines. Program areas remain points of focused attention, but we expect to be ever more interdisciplinary in our approach. This will be particularly evident with regard to initiatives that aim to make urban areas, in particular Cleveland, globally competitive and increasingly livable because it is in this domain that the greatest need and opportunity converge with the Foundation's primary interests and ongoing stewardship.

Although our focus is centered in Greater Cleveland, a portion of the Foundation's grantmaking will continue to support state and national policy making that bolsters our work.

EDUCATION

Education is fundamental to success, and the Foundation is especially conscious of the vital role of the Cleveland Municipal School District in any successful strategy to advance this region's prospects. Consequently, the Foundation's concern for improving primary and secondary education is focused on that school district and, to a lesser degree, on public schools in the first-ring suburbs. Our emphasis is on systemic school improvements, particularly in the areas of management and teacher quality, academic programs that address the needs of disadvantaged children and efforts to better connect schools with their communities.

Colleges and universities are playing an ever larger role in the economic and community life of their regions, and the Foundation supports efforts of public and private universities in Greater Cleveland to forge these innovative ventures. An additional area of interest is increasing access to higher education for disadvantaged students.

Some support is provided to organizations that work to advance educational equity and excellence through state and national policy and to build and strengthen support for public education.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND COMMUNITY REVITALIZATION

Sustaining uniquely urban assets such as vibrant neighborhoods and a thriving downtown is a key part of a successful regional strategy to promote economic growth. The Foundation devotes considerable attention to these dynamics, in particular by supporting collaborative efforts that leverage resources. Specific physical development proposals in Cleveland neighborhoods are usually not considered directly but are referred to Neighborhood Progress, Inc., a local intermediary supported by the Foundation. Likewise, specific proposals for economic development initiatives are referred to the Northeast Ohio Fund for Our Economic Future, a collaboration of many philanthropic organizations in the region.

Highest priority is given to initiatives that bolster the impact of foundation-supported intermediary organizations working to improve the competitiveness of Cleveland and its metropolitan region. Examples of such initiatives include quality urban planning and design efforts, improvements to urban parks and other public spaces and promotion of equal opportunity and diversity in housing and the workplace. Also receiving serious consideration are proposals that significantly leverage other resources for redevelopment of Cleveland's downtown, neighborhoods and its first-ring suburbs. Proposals of national or statewide significance are considered, but they must demonstrate a substantial contribution toward the Foundation's locally oriented economic development and community revitalization objectives.

ARTS

The Foundation values and supports the role the arts play in making Cleveland and its region a more desirable place to live, fostering the growth of a creative workforce, catalyzing development in our neighborhoods and serving as a bridge between various segments of the community. The Foundation encourages a lively, diverse arts community in Greater Cleveland by funding local projects that emphasize artistic quality, innovative programming, reaching new audiences and organizational development. We also try to balance support for Cleveland's long-standing institutions with funding for newer organizations that promise to reach different audiences and cultures and to expand the city's artistic offerings. Arts education continues to be a high priority, with a focus on curriculum-related partnerships between arts organizations and the Cleveland Municipal School District. In addition, the Foundation seeks to advance the region's understanding of the importance of the arts by supporting The Community Partnership for Arts and Culture.

HUMAN SERVICES

The Foundation believes that heightened focus on developing a more globally competitive city and region demands direct concurrent attention to the needs of those most at risk of being left out of social and economic transformation. We recognize this by helping to meet immediate human needs in Greater Cleveland and, especially, by supporting organizations working to alleviate those needs through policy changes locally, in the state of Ohio and at the national level. Areas of particular interest are tax and fiscal policy analysis and building the analytical and advocacy capacity of nonprofit organizations.

As a means of investing in the future, the Foundation pays special attention to the needs of disadvantaged children through grants to support early childhood care and education, abuse prevention, improved foster care and adoption systems and assessment of the impact of welfare reform. In addition, the Foundation provides some support for the local "safety net" of food, clothing, shelter and access to health care. A closely related set of interests is reflected in the Foundation's desire to help vulnerable populations achieve access to health insurance, to the legal system, to community support following release from prison and to safe and affordable reproductive health services.

ENVIRONMENT

Human well-being is inextricably linked to the quality of the environment, and urban areas bring this fact into sharp focus as historic disregard for the environment and modern development pressures create great challenges. The Foundation responds by making grants to organizations that work to address environmental issues in Northeast Ohio. In addition, we have an interest in the environment of the state as a whole and in the Lake Erie and Ohio River ecosystems. The Foundation focuses on six substantive areas: Smart Growth and Livable Communities, which promotes alternatives to urban sprawl; Green Buildings and Sustainable Energy, which seeks to advance approaches to reduced energy consumption and waste; Conservation of Natural Systems and Biodiversity, which focuses on conserving intact, high-quality ecosystems and threatened biodiversity; Protection of Human Health, which supports organizations that work to reduce environmental health threats; Public Education and Journalist Training, which provides support for media to increase public awareness of environmental issues; and Leadership Development, which seeks to enhance skills of nonprofit environmental organization leaders.

Within these areas, a wide range of proposals will be considered for Northeast Ohio. Statewide emphasis is on policy issues and organizations that assist grassroots groups. Limited support is provided to organizations that work at the national level on federal policies and programs that affect Ohio.

The Foundation normally does not consider grants for endowments or capital needs, including renovation, equipment or construction, except in special circumstances or when part of a larger project. Grants are not made for debt reduction or to fund benefit events. Funding for conferences, publications and media is limited to projects directly related to priorities in the Foundation's five program areas.

The Foundation does not make grants to individuals, nor does it administer programs it supports. Grants are limited to organizations located in the United States

The Foundation makes grants only to organizations that meet Internal Revenue Code requirements as nonprofit, tax-exempt organizations and to qualified government units and agencies. Grant funds may not be used to participate or intervene in any political campaign on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office.

GRANT APPLICATION PROCEDURES

Proposals are considered by the Foundation's Trustees in March, June, September and December. GEORGE GUND

George Gund was born in La Crosse, Wisconsin, and his family settled in Cleveland in 1897. Following graduation from Harvard College (1909) and graduate study at Harvard Business School, his early career included banking and real estate in Seattle, serving in Army intelligence during World War I, developing the Kaffee-Hag Corporation in Cleveland, attending Animal Husbandry School at Iowa State University and ranching in Nevada.

In 1936, Mr. Gund married Jessica Roesler and settled down in Cleveland to raise a family. His interest in banking culminated in his becoming President of The Cleveland Trust Company in 1941. At his death in 1966, he was Chairman of the Board.

In 1937, Mr. Gund began a formal program of charitable giving, and his philanthropic concern extended throughout his life. He carefully selected those charities to which he committed his funds. If the commitment was considerable over a long period of time, he characteristically devoted much of his time and energy to the institution.

Strong relationships developed with the educational institutions that shaped Mr. Gund's early life. He contributed time and money to University School (Cleveland), where he was a trustee, and to lowa State University, where he established a scholarship program for students of animal husbandry. He served on the Board of Overseers of Harvard College from 1954 to 1960 and was closely involved at Harvard with the School of Public Health and the Business School from 1954 to 1966. Another interest in higher education was Kenyon College, where he served as a trustee for many years.

Although Mr. Gund had little personal experience in the arts, his devotion to them was great. Perhaps the single best example was his long association with the Cleveland Institute of Art. In 1942, he became President of the Institute and, under his leadership, saw it develop into a lively and prestigious institution.

The George Gund Foundation was created in 1952 because Mr. Gund believed the private foundation concept provided the most positive, farsighted vehicle for intelligent underwriting of creative solutions to social ills in a manner which would not be limited to his own lifetime. He favored the corporate foundation structure directed by an experienced, sensitive board of trustees entrusted not only with disbursement of funds, but an objective, practical review of proposals. He valued the degree of freedom a private foundation can exercise in seeking and fostering innovative ideas and in implementing demonstration projects.

Today, Mr. Gund's vision is carried forth through the continued involvement of the Gund family in the Foundation's work. Since its inception, the Foundation has made grants totaling more than $409 million toward the advancement of human welfare.
